

A Showbox Necessity!

"These brushes are must-haves in your barn and showbox because they promote hair growth, help train the hair and stimulate hide and hair replenishment. The synthetic and rice root blend bristles make these brushes last longer than conventional rice root brushes found on the market. I always make sure to keep these brushes handy!"

Rice Root Brushes

Made with the finest rice root on the market and blended with synthetic bristles for durability, these long-lasting brushes are a must-have in showboxes! Rice root brushes are great for regular use on hogs to promote healthy skin and also work well for grooming and training hair on cattle. The bristles on the regular 6" brush are trimmed to a slight peak in the center to allow for additional wrist action while grooming. With a narrower design and evenly trimmed bristles, the small brush is great for carrying in pockets. Both styles feature wood handles with finger grooves for comfort and grip.

Burr Out

With 17 tapered, slightly off-set teeth in two rows, the Burr Out effectively detangles hair every time and works great with a variety of grooming products. The ergonomic design helps prevent damage to hands in the burr removal process.

- Extra wide 4-3/4" design

- Non-rust stainless steel main body and teeth will not break under pressure

Creator of the Burr Out:

"I came up with the idea for the Burr Out while I was hooking up my horses one day. They had burrs throughout their mane and tail that needed removed. I bent the teeth of the first comb I used in my attempt to remove the burrs. The teeth broke on the next comb I tried. As a result, I went to my shop and drilled two sets of staggered holes in a small piece of metal, welded some roofing nails to the metal, ground the tops of the nails off and constructed a handle for my new comb. As I began to use the comb, I realized that it was the best comb I ever used. It separated the hair as I pulled down, removing the burrs with ease. I made some for a few of my friends and they felt the same way."
